Participants – II Year (AIR/AIDS/AIML) & III Year (AIR/AIDS/AIML) students

Following points were discussed during the meeting

An online meeting was conducted for students. The purpose was to address and discuss various aspects aimed at motivating and fostering active engagement in the teaching and learning activities of the department. The key objectives included identifying and discussing challenges faced by the students.

During the meeting, students emphasized the necessity for specific sessions focusing on the development of interpersonal skills, career guidance, and workshops and seminars tailored to skill development aligned with current industry trends. They also expressed interest in classwise competitions based on course content, the organization of hackathons, and project-based competitions.

Furthermore, there was a consensus on the need for doubt-clearing sessions specific to respective courses, as well as the arrangement of mock interviews at the departmental level for campus preparation. The meeting also delved into the importance of research guidance and mentorship under the faculty. Following are the suggestion received from the students:

1. Specialized Workshops and Bootcamps Covering Advanced Topics.
2. Hosting Small-Scale Hackathons to Foster Innovation and Problem-Solving.
3. Course-Specific Competitions for Each Class.
4. Conducting Mock Interviews to Prepare Students for Campus Placement.
5. Doubt-Clearing Sessions Aligned with Course Content.
6. Comprehensive Development of Machine Learning Projects from Inception to Implementation.
